FALL REFLECTIONS—Photographer Mark Harrington captures fall's fleeting dance of shadow and color in Bear River Valley.

Work underway to connect permanent new water source

By MICHAEL DANIELS

Work began Wednesday on a $1.5 million project to extend Bethel's water lines two miles farther out along the North Road, to a point where they will be able to tap a new source of water for customers of the Bethel Water District.

For at least 20 years the Water District had been exploring possible new sources of water, to augment, and possibly replace the Chapman Brook reservoir.

Concerns had long been raised about the ability of the 160,000-plus-gallon reservoir to meet the town's growing needs, and about how long the state would allow such "open-source" systems to operate.

As far back as 1987, an engineering report commissioned by the district concluded: "In short, the Chapman Brook supply may have to be phased out as a primary source."

But overnight on July 11 that speculation became moot, when a freak overnight rainstorm destroyed much of the Chapman Brook watershed and filled the reservoir with tons of gravel, boulders and downed trees.

The Bethel Water District moved swiftly to bring other water sources on-line, and enough water was found to keep the system's 500,000-gallon underground reservoir on Paradise Road, if not full, at least full enough that taps in the village continued to flow.

But the initial fixes were only temporary, and the district stepped up its search for alternative sources.

Test wells were drilled farther out along the North Road, but the initial results were discouraging. The wells either provided too little flow,

Local Marine seeking soccer balls and other toys for kids in Iraq

By ALISON ALOISIO

More than 100 soccer balls—and counting—are headed toward Iraqi kids, at the request of a local U.S. Marine.

Brian Zinchuk, a 2003 Telstar High School grad who is on his second tour of Iraq, asked for soccer balls for the kids instead of presents for his recent birthday.

The idea started when Kathy Thrall, a member of the Bethel Rotary Club, asked Brian's mom, Robin, if the club could send her son gifts to let him know members were thinking of him.

"I thought we'd end up sending him granola bars and chewing gum," said Thrall.

But when Robin asked Brian what he might like, he thought of the kids instead of himself.

Zinchuk, who celebrated his 23rd birthday in September, asked for soccer balls because, he said, the children in the area where he is stationed have very little.

The country is passionate about soccer, but there is little equipment available.

Thrall took up the cause. She put out a request for individuals, schools and organizations to donate balls, new or used.

She also requested Beanie Babies and other small stuffed animals for younger children, as well as crayons and coloring books.

After an article appeared in the Lewiston Sun Journal newspaper, she received some items by mail. She also received checks to help purchase balls.

Thrall is making the most of the money (about $75) donated so far. Last week, she traveled to Rumford and bought several dozen balls at Marden's.

"I'd like to get a thousand soccer balls," said Thrall.

The total so far is 113.

Andover voters agree to put back fire funding they cut in March

By ALISON ALOISIO

Andover voters last week approved — on the second try — additional funds to keep the lights and heat on at their fire station for the rest of the year.

But they also approved articles that will keep a tighter rein on Fire Department financing.

Last Thursday's special Town Meeting drew more than 100 residents. That's more people than usually attend the annual meeting in March.

They came out to consider four articles, two of them related to the Fire Department.

The first proposed to transfer $4,500 from the Fire Truck budget from $34,477 to $30,000.

With three months left in the fiscal year, the account had been drawn down to just over $500 — not enough, Fire Chief Ken Dixon said, to light and heat the fire station.

After the motion was made to approve the article, there were no questions or comments offered.

But the town was clearly divided on the Fire Department.

When the vote was taken,

$2-million Med-Care project

Newry open to a pitch from PACE

By ALISON ALOISIO

After initially supporting Med-Care's plan to build a new $2 million station, Newry selectmen decided Monday to consider other options for ambulance service.

Med-Care, based in Mexico, currently serves 11 towns in the region, including Newry.

Bob Hand, the director of PACE Ambulance of Norway, attended the Newry board meeting.

"There may be other options. It's wide open. The small towns might want to get together," he said.

Hand said he had spoken with officials of Stephens Memorial Hospital, which oversees PACE's operation. SMH expressed interest in making a proposal to provide coverage in Newry, he said.

"But they would need time," he said, perhaps two or three weeks.

PACE already serves Sunday River Ski Resort during

Andover balks at the commitment

By ALISON ALOISIO

Andover officials and residents were skeptical last week of a plan by Med-Care ambulance to build a new facility.

After Thursday's Town Meeting in Andover, about a third of those attending stayed on for an informational meeting on the project.

Med-Care provides service for 11 towns, including Andover.

The new building, to be built in Mexico, would house up to 10 ambulances and would also provide living quarters for on-duty personnel.

NONVIOLENT COMMUNICATION

To the Editor:

I thought reader might like to hear about a workshop in NVC, short for Nonviolent Communication, which is coming to Bethel Oct. 26-28. NVC was developed during the civil rights movement of the '60s. While there are active practitioners around the globe, there seems to be little awareness of it in western Maine. I like it because it is based upon the philosophy that peace in the world begins in our own hearts and minds, that the way we think informs our actions, and learning to think more peacefully ourselves can help to create a more peaceful collective consciousness in the world. In these sad and frustrating times, as we watch violence escalate in the world, it's easy to fall into anger, despair, or to preoccupy our minds to avoid the suffering caused by violence. Alternatively, if we can see ourselves as an integral and vital part of our world, and if we can understand that we have power over our own minds and thus can influence the world in a positive way, simply by virtue of the way we think and speak, we can feel empowered and liberated from suffering caused by violence.

Founded by Marshall Rosenberg, Ph.D. Nonviolent Communication is a process that teaches us to think, speak, and act in ways that help us to connect authentically and inspire trust and compassion within ourselves and others. Using NVC, we learn to express ourselves authentically and to listen with empathy. Through the four steps of observing without interpretation or judgment, listening to and expressing our feelings, understanding and expressing our needs behind those feelings, and formulating clear and concrete requests for actions, we learn to understand and break through our own habitual patterns that can actually block us from meeting our own and others needs — basic human needs of connection, honesty, peace, well-being, meaning, and freedom.

This weekend workshop will be taught by NVC for Maine teacher Peggy Smith, who has led conflict resolution classes around the state for over two decades. An active member of Thich Nhat Hanh's Order of Interbeing, she is an elementary teacher by day and an NVC teacher by night and weekends. Held at the Gehring House in Bethel, the workshop is co-sponsored by SAD44 Community Education.

Remember, Friday night is a free introduction.

Peace in our hearts, peace in the world.

HAUNTED HALLOWEEN WALK

To the Editor:

Andover is inviting all Halloween enthusiasts to spend the evening of Oct. 27 at the Haunted Halloween Walk. Tours will begin at dusk and continue until the line ends. The walk is rumored to be one of the best outdoor Halloween events in Oxford County.

The support our town, as well as our neighbors from the Bethel, Woodstock, and Rumford communities, have given the event in the past has been appreciated and we hope to see you all again. For those from out of town we're told, "It's worth the drive up Route 5." So, why not find out for yourself?

All proceeds from the $3 entry fee per person will benefit the Andover 5th Grade Class end-of-the-year Field Trip. Parking is available at the tennis courts, located directly across the street from the starting location of Martin's Sales and Service/Andover Supply (formerly Andover Automotive) on Main Street.

BRUCE AND BECKIE CARTER BAILEY AWARD

To the Editor:

On the evening of Oct. 24 upcoming, Mahoosuc Land Trust will present the first "Bruce B. and Beckie Carter Bailey Award" to a deserving individual, couple or organization that has made significant strides in the support of conservation. The award is given to perpetually recognize Beckie and Bruce for their many years of land stewardship and thoughtful concern for this community.

Following Beckie's death in January 2003, in her 91st year, two well-known local organizations and a Maine state conservation group received requests to assist each group in maintaining projects that Bruce and Beckie believed to be worthy of their final gifts.

Remembered as rugged individuals who cherished friends deeply, delighted in cream for coffee and were thoughtful and charitable to the very last, it is fitting that this Bruce and Beckie Bailey Award is going to be given 14 days after what would have been Bruce and Beckie's 65th Wedding Anniversary that was on 10 October 2007.

Let us hope they are looking down from Katahdin or White Cap well pleased in the difference they made during and after their lives well spent.

SNOWSPORTS YARD SALE THANKS

To the Editor:

I would like to take this moment to thank all those who helped to make our fifth annual yard sale on the 13th of October a huge success. Many thanks to all the individuals who contributed to the sale. Special thanks go to Arlene Lowell for the use of her property and all her help. Special thanks also go out to Deanne Rothwell, Richard Wakefield, Ken Wakefield, Robert Lowell, Crystal Lake, Clinton Wakefield, Grayson Wakefield, Rick Young and Gary Okenquist for all their hard work and innumerable volunteer hours to help make this happen. Thanks also go out to the Bethel Alliance Church for the use of their parking lot and tables and to the VFW Hall in Greenwood for the use of their tables.

The ability to get on your machine and ride is not to be taken for granted. Although our goals of our club are many, we have few hands willing to work. or tapped water that was too contaminated (for example, by iron) to be economically feasible.

More than 20 test wells were drilled before a promising source of water was found on land belonging to Dick Douglass.

John Head, chairman of the Water District Board of Trustees, said the district plans to drill three producing wells at the site, each of which should be capable of providing 100 gallons a minute of high-quality water.

The district requires approximately 130 to 140 GPM to keep the reservoir on Paradise Road sufficiently full.

Funding

The week after the July 11 storm, Maine Governor John

Baldacci requested, $1.8 million in federal emergency assistance for Oxford County, with most of that money earmarked for the Bethel Water District.

The request was quickly approved by President Bush.

The federal funds will pay for 75 percent of the cost of restoring the water supply, with the balance to come from the state (15 percent) and the Water District (10 percent).

The purchase of the Douglass property will be paid for entirely by Water District rate-payers, Head said, and will probably be funded by a 20-year bond.

Town pays for 'deep' culverts

Laying the new pipe will require disturbing 17 "shallow" culverts along the roadway, all of which will be replaced as part of the waterline project.

The waterline route also passes over five "deep" culverts, which lie under the path of the waterline.

Town selectmen have decided to use the opportunity to replace those culverts, which are aging and in danger of being destabilized by the road work above them.

In an agreement finalized Wednesday, the town will pay the purchase cost of the new pipe, and the cost of installation will be included in the overall project budget.

The road work is expected to be completed by Dec. 1.

While the project is in progress, motorists can expect delays of up to 15 minutes, Head said.

KATHY THRALL OF BETHEL is collecting soccer balls and toys (and money to purchase them) to send to U.S. Marine Cpl. Brian Zinchuk for Iraqi children in the area where he is stationed.

Reaction from Iraq

Brian has already received some packages from friends and family.

In a recent e-mail to his mother, he wrote, "A big thanks for all the packages you are sending for the kids of Iraq, keep them coming. Just so you all know, it isn't long after I get the package before all the toys and balls are given to the local kids."

"The children seem to be reacting really well to everything that you are sending."

Sometimes it's hard to tell them that I don't have anything left.

"It still blows my mind every time I see all these children approaching and talking to Marines when only a year ago in Barwanah [his station on his first tour], the kids would hide whenever Marines were around."

While Brian's desire is to help the kids, Thrall hopes the effort will also serve another purpose.

"If we give Brian and his unit the tools and ammunition to spread goodwill, hopefully that will help keep them safe," she said.

Anyone wishing to donate money to purchase more balls and toys may send a check, payable to the Bethel Rotary Club, to Kathy Thrall, The Inn at the Rostay, 186 Mayville Rd., Bethel, ME 04217.

Balls and toys may also be dropped off at the Rostay (on Route 2 just east of Bethel Village).

Local motorcyclist seriously injured in Route 2 accident

A Newry man was seriously injured Saturday in a motorcycle accident on Route 2.

At about 11 a.m. James McIlroy, 63, was traveling west near Bethel Outdoor Adventure when a car driven by Charlotte Small, 60, of Kittery Point started to pull out from the North Road, according to a police report by Officer Rusty Daley, who responded to the accident.

McIlroy laid down the bike to avoid a collision, and there was no contact between the vehicles.

McIlroy sustained a serious spinal injury and was LifeFlighted to Maine Medical Center.

He was listed in serious condition at MMC Wednesday.

Bethel Rescue and the Bethel Fire Department also responded to the accident.

Mahoosuc Report overview

Prepared by staff of The Wilderness Society (Part 1 of 3)

The land of the Mahoosuc region is a part of us who live here, deep and unchangeable like the grain at the heart of an ancient eastern white pine. A challenging landscape that is not always the easiest place to live, it defines our character and binds our communities, and we love it.

But the soaring mountains, deep forests, and clear waters of the Mahoosuc region cannot hide the fact that this region is undergoing profound changes in land use, economic activity, and demographics.

In a recent report called the Mahoosuc Region Resources Report, sponsored by the Mahoosuc Land Trust, Androscoggin River Watershed Council, and Tri-County Community Action Program, authors Marcel Polak, Kirk Siegel and Jim List take an in-depth look at the region's resources, economics, demographics, ecology, and the powerful forces bringing changes to them all. The groups, part of what is called the Mahoosuc Initiative, avoid making recommendations. Instead, they intend for the report to be used by communities as a platform for identifying needs and opportunities for action.

For the purposes of their research, they define the Mahoosuc region as the 12 organized and 9 unorganized townships that surround the Mahoosuc Range and comprise the upper basin of the Androscoggin River in north-eastern New Hampshire and western Maine.

Most of what the report presents will come as no surprise to those who live and work here: the region is resource-rich, has strong communities, is a popular destination for those who love outdoor recreation, and is in the midst of a transformation that touches nearly every aspect of life here.

Mahoosuc region economy and communities

The report finds that the changes taking place across the Mahoosuc region can be largely tracked in the arcs of Berlin, N.H., and Bethel, Maine. With its fortunes having been deeply linked to its pulp and paper mills, Berlin has been shaken to its foundations by the recent closure of one of the areas' two mills. It now finds itself in the midst of a major economic transformation in order to maintain its population and infrastructure, and to continue providing important medical, educational, retail, and professional services to the greater area.

Local business and civic leaders have launched several initiatives designed to diversify and revitalize the local economy, including forming the Northern Forest Heritage Park, revitalizing Berlin's Main Street, expanding Jericho Lake State Park to accommodate greater ATV use, and jump-starting the Androscoggin Valley Economic Recovery Corporation.

Similarly, Bethel has had to deal with challenges to an economy that has long been linked to farming and timbering, like most of the small towns in the Mahoosuc region. But diversification has been the hallmark of the Bethel economic strength in recent years. While fine finished wood products, which have had a long history in the area, continue to be a significant part of the economy, Bethel also has been highly successful in tapping the "creative economy" of artists, craftspeople, software developers, writers, musicians, and actors that flourishes in the region.

With an emphasis on developing its recreation, education, and creative resources, Bethel has been able to draw and keep younger demographics, a feat proving challenging throughout the region. Because of its inherent beauty, tourism has flourished in Bethel for hundreds of years and only continues to grow, as evidenced by the rapid rise of Sunday River Ski Resort. The report authors underscore this point by noting that the success of the ski industry at the resort is responsible for "drawing visitors and economic activity into the Mahoosuc region."

While Berlin and Bethel provide important examples of changes taking place in the Mahoosuc region economy and demographics, they are only two examples of the shifting trends buffeting the wider region noted in the report. For example, population for the Mahoosuc region actually decreased from 1980 to 2000. The greatest population decrease took place among residents under 19 years of age, but the 20 to 64 demographic also decreased. Only the 65-and-older age group is increasing. The report attributes this difference to increasing housing costs and fewer employment opportunities for working-age residents coupled with long-term residents retiring and staying put and an influx of out-of-state retirees.

New residents moving into the state, especially the 65-and-older group, drove population growth to three-quarters of a percent from 2000 to 2005, according to the report. Maine's in-migration rate is now seven times the natural increase due to births exceeding deaths. Maine and New Hampshire rank 5th and 6th, respectively, among the states in rate of in-migration per 1,000 residents for the years 2000 to 2004. These newcomers tend to be healthy retirees and "down-shifting" baby boomers still in their income-producing years but leaving more urban jobs in favor of culturally diverse communities, beautiful surroundings, and recreational opportunities.

The report authors believe this powerful new trend is likely to benefit the Mahoosuc region economically as more people with ideas, energy, and disposable income move to the area in search of a better quality of life.

Another significant trend in the region is away from wood-products manufacturing and toward service-sector employment. In Coos and Oxford counties, the loss of wood-products manufacturing jobs parallel the U.S. trend of manufacturing jobs being lost and replaced, in part, by growing service-sector jobs. Though the transition to a service-based economy is viewed with dismay by some, the report finds that there are many highly-skilled jobs in this sector within the Mahoosuc region. Healthcare is one such job sector and is particularly important for the Berlin area, as an example.

For Coos and Oxford counties, highly-skilled and highly-paid occupations increased most from 1969 to 2004 with healthcare, finance, and professional and technical work accounting for 49 percent of the earnings from service jobs. The tourism sector — accommodations and food service, arts, entertainment, and recreation — accounted for 23 percent of earnings. As retirees and downshifting baby boomers continue to move into the Mahoosuc region, the report's authors expect the service sector to continue to grow.

nearly all the voters on one side of the aisle raised their cards in support of the transfer.

Then, on the nay vote, nearly all on the other side of the aisle raised their cards.

The question was defeated, 48-44, and at that point, there was no money available to light the station and fuel the trucks for the rest of the year.

Budget Committee

The residents then moved on to consider the other articles, which were placed on the warrant as a result of a citizen petition led by Susan Merrow.

"To see if the Town will vote to nominate a 2008 Budget Committee to consist of a minimum of six citizen volunteers, excluding selectmen. Appointments to be voted on at the special Town Meeting. If there are not six volunteers, the remaining positions can be appointed by Budget Committee members and selectmen."

Traditionally, the selectmen appointed three people who served jointly with them in recommending a budget.

Comments from some townspeople indicated the article's intent, at least in part, was to provide more people to oversee the building of the Fire Department's budget.

Wayne Delano spoke in favor of the article.

"I see no reason why six minds working on a budget aren't better than three. They have no authority other than recommendations," he said.

The article was overwhelmingly approved.

Voters went on to name Ron Wells, Joan Stinson-Carney, Todd Papianou, Peggy Madigan, Richard Merrill and Sandy Conrad to the 2008 Budget Committee.

The first three members had already been appointed by selectmen.

Selectmen question

Voters defeated another article that proposed banning selectmen from holding any other paid town position while serving.

Some town officials said they saw the article as being aimed at selectman Hope Peterson, who also serves as secretary to the board.

Kevin Scott argued that under the current arrangement, "there are three people doing the job of four." It would be better, he said, for four to share the responsibilities.

But Town Clerk Elaine Morton said having Peterson in the Town Office is convenient when people have questions only a selectman can answer.

"It's a big help," she said.

The article was defeated 61-

Fire budget revisited

After that vote, Delano made a motion to revisit the Fire Department budget article.

"I don't want to pay money to be thawing out pipes," he said.

Selectman Jeff Rainey said the town is legally obligated to provide fire protection. Without the money, the station would have to be closed and another source found to provide protection.

He reminded voters Dixon had asked for $34,500 in March.

"The fire chief said that's what he needed, and guess what? That's what he needed," said Rainey.

Delano said that with a larger Budget Committee, there would be more people to oversee future department spending, and the $4,500 should be approved for the present.

"Let's get through this year," he said.

Voters overwhelmingly approved the transfer of funds.

Expenses approval

A fourth article, which would provide further oversight of the Fire Department, was also approved.

It proposed that selectmen authorize all department expenditures above $50 made before the approval in March of a budget for the coming year.

Kevin Scott moved to amend the amount to $200.

Dixon said he did not object to the article, but that it should apply to all town departments.

Brad Thibodeau said the library already has a similar requirement in place.

Delano said the Highway Department's budget is "transparent" in reporting how funds are spent, but the Fire Department's is not. For that reason, he said, he favored the article.

Treasurer Sandy Conrad said the weekly reports of department spending are available to citizens at the Town Office.

Delano said that Dixon overall "does a fantastic job," and gave him high ratings in commitment, dedication and honesty.

"We don't want to lose Ken Dixon," said Delano.

But he said approving the article would help Dixon stay within a budget.

The amended article was overwhelmingly approved.

Just before the meeting concluded, Ron Wells, who said he has been attending Town Meetings since 1963, told townspeople, "I'm really concerned about the tension in this town. It's been very contentious in the last few months. We need to find where it's coming from and not feed on it."

Commitment

saying they would not support the plan in that form.

They then asked Med-Care to send a representative to last week's Town Meeting.

Steve Brown, president of the Med-Care board, attended.

He said the loan could be modified to a 30-year loan, in part because the project has been reduced to $2 million.

Not towns' call

Some towns have also questioned whether the project could go forward without a vote by residents.

Brown said that through the member towns' interlocal agreement, the Med-Care board has the authority to decide on projects.

He told Andover residents that the Med-Care board would be "shirking its responsibility" if it held a referendum vote on the question.

Other options?

Susan Merrow asked Brown if the board had considered other alternatives, such as a more modest building, one built in phases, or satellite stations.

Satellite stations, said Brown, would cost more.

Merrow countered that voters might approve more money if they received better, faster service in return.

Selectman Jeff Rainey said he liked the idea of renovating an existing building instead of constructing a new facility.

But Brown said the board had thoroughly researched that option, and it was not cost-efficient.

He said the alternative the board had considered in response to towns' concerns was the 30-year loan.

Richard Merrill speculated that if the NewPage mill ever left town and the population of region declined, the remaining residents would have to pay more toward the building debt.

He said Andover could lose its elementary school in the looming school consolidation effort, and, he said, "I don't see our population increasing."

Brown acknowledged that a smaller population would still have to raise the same amount of money for the building.

Angelo Kaltsos was very clear in his stand on the project.

"It's too expensive," he said. "I don't approve."

Renewal vote

Some towns served by Med-Care have expressed concern that the project immediately precedes a 10-year renewal vote on the interlocal agreement, slated for 2008.

"We vote in March on the 10-year renewal," Kelly Scotti told Brown. "At what point is Andover committed [to the building project]?"

Brown noted again that the Med-Care board has the authority to enter into the loan agreement.

At a meeting earlier last week, Brown said if a town voted to break off its membership, it would still be bound to debt incurred while it was with the ambulance service.

But a USDA representative also said if all the towns voted against the interlocal agreement, Med-Care would not be obligated to go ahead with the project.

At the same meeting, an official from one town suggested the board wait to start construction until after the towns have voted on the agreement.

Construction is expected to start in May.

Pace

Hand said it might be possible to set up a satellite ambulance station in the area to lessen the time of response to calls.

Wendy Hanscom said she was open to new options.

"I don't have a problem with looking at a proposal from PACE," she said.

Jim Largess agreed. "The good side for us is they both [Med-Care and PACE] do a great job," he said.

The selectmen said they should also contact Bethel about a possible proposal.

And, said Steve Wight "We should have Med-Care here [for discussion] as well. No one is disputing that they need a new facility."

Med-Care

Med-Care's board requested last month that selectmen from member towns send letters of support for the board's plan to build a new station in Mexico.

Letters acknowledging the towns are at least aware of the project are required by the U.S. Department of Agriculture, which would provide the loan money for the project. (See Andover Med-Care story for further background.)

At a meeting earlier this month, Newry selectmen said they supported the plan. But a letter has not yet been sent, town officials said this week.

Largess said Monday that when the selectmen decided to endorse the plan, he did not realize that there would be no town vote on the question.

The Med-Care board said its charter gives the board the power to make decisions on such projects.

Newry is represented on the board by Anita Clark.

"I'm uncomfortable with Anita, or us, deciding for the whole town," said Largess.

Wight agreed. "The selectmen are charged to administer the wishes of the town. We can't raise money without the wishes of the town."

But, he added, towns are not consulted every time Med-Care purchases a new ambulance, either.

Selectmen decided to contact the Maine Municipal Association for clarification.

Med-Care officials have said if an 11-town referendum vote on the project had to be held, it would likely delay plans to start construction in May.

Debt obligation

The selectmen also wondered at what point Newry would be committed to the debt incurred for Med-Care's new station.

"If we're a member now and we don't get out, whether we sign the next [10-year Med-Care] agreement or not, we're liable," said Wight.

"I think we can opt out now," said Largess. "Our hand is not forced right now, other than needing coverage."

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

Sharon Bouchard's column is published by special arrangement with the Advertising Department

I'm sure some of you will cringe when I say that I am Christmas shopping. I would like to point out that it is not because I am an organized person, it is because I do a lot of shopping on eBay and I only get paid once a month, so I have only two pay checks before Christmas.

Anyway, in the process of doing my shopping I have gotten very frustrated in my efforts to find non-violent toys and games for my grandsons. The kids are very much into video game Sfor their Playstations and I was shocked to see what some of the games for this are all about.

There are some good games that are suitable for their age group and there are some that are quite appropriate for the entire family, but there is also a whole bunch of video games geared for teenagers that shouldn't even be played by adults.

I'm talking about games with titles such as "Resident Evil", "Mortal Kombat Deadly Alliance", "Panzer General 3D Assault", "Virtual Boy Panic Bomber" and one little fun game called "Duke Nukem." That is only a smattering of what I came across. Some of the games' titles aren't even fit for a family publication, let alone for teenagers' amusement.

Maybe I'm becoming a prude with age, but I just don't think it is necessary to expose children to any more violence than necessary. They will see enough of it just by watching the nightly news.

After finding it difficult to find video games that I could feel good about I decided to check out the toys on eBay. There are a lot of great toys, but I was amazed at the number of toys that I consider not age appropriate for little kids even though that is the market they are aimed at.

I found one item called "The Executioner" so I checked it out because I could not imagine such a toy for toddlers. Sure enough "The Executioner" is a little man with hooded face and carrying an ax for beheading. It turned out that this character is part of a medieval play village designed for children ages 3 to 5.

I will spare you the details of the original stories because they are quite shocking...

Well, needless to say I ranted and raved for a while questioning what this world is coming to. Then I had a flashback to a time when my kids were little and my reading them Hansel and Gretel which if you remember is a story about two little kids lured by an old hag into a phony gingerbread house. Once in the house the wee ones are captured and put into birdcages to be fattened up for a later meal of succulent tot. They somehow manage to get free and throw the old hag into the fire. Now there's a non-violent story to amuse the little ones with!

That made me curious about some of the other children's stories that have been around for many generations and have been bedtime staples. So, I did a little research into the origins of some of the old standbys such as Sleeping Beauty and Cinderella and was quite surprised at what I found. Most of us remember these classics from the Disney movies, but let me tell you, they were greatly changed by the time they hit the animation cells.

It is believed that most of the fairy tale classics that we are originally passed down through oral story telling and didn't see print form until 1697 when Charles Perrault penned a collection entitled "Tales of Times Passed" which included "The Sleeping Beauty in the Wood," "Little Red Riding Hood," "Blue Beard," "The Master Cat: or Puss in Boots," "Diamonds and Toads," "Cinderella: or, The Little Glass Slipper," and "Hop o' my Thumb."

I will spare you the details of the original stories because they are quite shocking, but I will go so far as to say that they included child molestations, unbelievable acts of violence, maiming of humans and animals, theft, gross dishonesty and blatant racial discrimination. There were no "Happy ever-afters," or handsome princes that saved the day. It is very hard for people of present day to believe that these stories could have been told to children of long ago.

What we have to understand is that children of the 14, 15 and 1600s were considered small adults as soon as they were able to walk and talk and most all children of those eras were raised in extreme squalor and poverty. These gruesome tales were not much harsher than their own existences.

So, I guess violence as a form of entertainment for children has been around for a very long time. However, that doesn't mean that I have to subsidize it for my grandchildren by buying them a toy called "The Executioner." It's bad enough that they mold their Play-Doh into the shape of a gun.

I'm going to stick to the old non-violent favorites such as toy dump trucks and Tinker Toys and the way I see it, I'll make darn sure they have fun with these things even if it kills me.

12-inch diameter pipe next week. The pipe will be stored at Angevine Park in readiness for installation in a new water supply system for Bethel. Cross Excavation of Bethel will be the contractor to lay the pipe when the time comes.

Parkway Plaza's first business tenant will open next Friday, Oct. 19, if all goes according to plan. Kai Clothing will stock and sell men's, women's and children's clothing. Francis Dumont told me his daughter, Felicia, will run the store and plans to hire some help before opening. The new store will assure his daughter of an after-school job. For those, who like me, pretty much depend on Wal-Mart for socks and underwear, the Parkway's new store plans to stock the basics.

At the Planning Board meeting on Sept. 27, Vicki Rackliffe was welcomed as the board's planning assistant.

The Bethel Planning Board is continuing to consider a variety of aspects of the development planned for Bethel-Newry town line known as the Locke Summit Estates. This project idea seems to have been born when Gould Academy decided to sell its property that surrounded the no longer used Swan's Corner ski jump. Dealing with fire protection, road specifications and a walking-biking trail that crosses town lines has caused creation of a two-town planning board process.

Last weekend was Parents' Fall Weekend at Gould Academy. Parents got the benefit of peak foliage color in Bethel in contrast with the Columbus Day Weekend visitors who saw only pre-peak color around Bethel.

The Barker Mountain Lodge and White Cap Lodge areas at Sunday River are still closed for storm damage repairs. In what was once the Williamson homestead site, New York Pizza's new building progresses. If the impressive steel framework and rafters are any indication of things to come, the company plans to do a very serious pizza business. Signs of life are flickering at the mini mall next to the Newry Post Office.

Sometime in the coming week, a gate and fence section at Riverside Cemetery will be removed so that a repair cost estimate can be obtained. The removal is not vandalism.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh
My perspective of the passing seasons derives from the morning walks that Jake and I take on the forest road. The scene changes from day to day, precluding boredom because there is always something new to see. At this time of year the alterations seem more pronounced than during other seasons, as Mother Nature outdoes herself with brilliant colors. Now the woods have started to open up as the leaves drop.

In winter we can see for hundreds of feet on either side of the road, and the snow presents a totally foreign landscape. Animal tracks abound and tell all sorts of stories. The many shades of green in spring proliferate from day to day, punctuated by the colors of spring wildflowers. Then in summer the woods close up again, and our visibility is limited to just a few feet from the road. By September the cycle is near its end again, but what a glorious end!

We have been visited by juncos, white-throated sparrows, nuthatches, chickadees, and such. Also ever present are the red squirrels. Mike has been on a mission to get rid of the pesky rodents. He bought a Hav-A-Heart trap and so far has transported about 10 of them to distant locations in the forest. There is a never-ending supply, however, so I don't know how effective the plan will be. Fingers crossed.

Pleasant Valley Grange hosted the Bethel Senior Citizens last Wednesday, Oct. 10, for its annual New England boiled dinner. It was pronounced absolutely delicious by those who attended.

Eleven of the Bethel Red Hat ladies joined nine of the Errol, N.H., "Naughty But Nice" Red Hatters on Friday, Oct. 12, at the Bull Moose Café in Cambridge, N.H. This is just beyond Upton, so there were members from there as well. We met Ellie LeComte, who writes the Upton column, and Joy Yarnell was there, too, looking very well. We had a delightful lunch and also a great time visiting. In spite of cloudy, rainy weather, we also enjoyed the foliage through Grafton Notch.

Word is that the Rev. Earl Bell of the West Bethel Union Church will be retiring as of Nov. 11, to move back to New York State from whence he hails. I think the town is Medina, which is somewhere between Buffalo and Rochester. That is a really pretty area, but it's right in the "snow belt" that gets all the lake-effect snow, so we hope the Bells have their snow shovels polished and ready to go. The house on Papoose Pond is on the market. We wish them luck in this transition.

We were saddened to hear of the passing of Patsy Jo Cote on Oct. 9. She had been ill for several months. We miss her pleasant face in the produce department of the Foodliner, where she was manager. Our deepest sympathy goes to Patsy's family and friends for their loss.

Every year at this time I start to think that I'll have to get out and rake leaves. Just about when I have resolved to do it, Mother Nature comes along with some good wind and does it for me. I can only hope that this year will be no exception! Contact me with your news: dhoeh@megalink.net; 836-3011.

It really seems more like fall lately. The leaves are really beautiful even on the rainy days. The foliage in Shelburne, N.H., is really putting on a show for all the "Leaf Peepers."

My brother, Steve McLain, stopped by this past weekend with some pumpkins for our grandchildren for Halloween. William and Annie will be here next weekend and they can get together with Sidney and Ajay and carve their Halloween pumpkins.

The inner workings of the Town Office of the town of Gilead came to a halt this past week. The Oct. 10 Selectmen's meeting had to be cancelled, vehicle registrations could not get done and questions related to the town could not be answered. The reason for all of this was that Beverley Corriveau, tax collector and administrative assistant, had to make a quick trip to the hospital. After a couple of days in Norway at Stephens Memorial Hospital, she was transferred to CMMC in Lewiston. Her daughter, Bethany, is trying to answer questions and relay plans to the residents as to how the office will be run until Bev is back at work. The first plan is that Angie Lovejoy will be in the office Thursday, Oct. 18 (tonight), to take care of registrations. As of last Saturday, Beth said that she had spoken to her mother and Bev was feeling much better. Everyone is wishing Bev a speedy recovery.

I just found out this past Monday, Oct. 15, that the North Road was going to be closed for a couple of days for repairs on the Bethel end. The dates were Wednesday, Oct. 17 (yesterday), and Thursday, Oct. 18 (today), and the time was set for 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. Sorry for the late notice.

Public Hearing

This is a reminder that a Public Hearing to review proposed changes to the Planning Board, Lot size and Setback and Subdivision Ordinances will be held on Wednesday, Oct. 24, at 7 p.m. in the Town Hall. Copies of the pages containing the proposed changes are available at the Town Office.

Comprehensive Planning Committee
The Comprehensive Planning Committee (CPC) held its initial meeting on Oct. 15 at the Town Hall. The Comprehensive Plan (CP) update approach, schedule and the committee and AVCOG responsibilities were discussed. There were eight people who came to the meeting and one who was unable to attend. Ferg Lea was there from AVCOG, who will be guiding the town through the process. The committee appointed Jack Pucak as chairman, Jill Bujnowski as vice chairman and Becky Morin as secretary. The next meeting of the CPC will be the second week in November. The actual date will be determined at a later date. These meetings are open to the public.

Fall finally arrived. We have been enjoying warm, pleasant days for over a month. An occasional rain shower kept the forest safe from fire. This week brought us out of our reverie with cooler weather and a Nor'easter predicted. Outdoor working conditions were perfect. Remaining boats were hauled out of the lake. The lake level has dropped so low that this was a formidable task.

The Red Hatters from Bethel and the "Naughty but Nice Red Hatters" from Errol joined for a lunch at the Bull Moose on Oct. 12. The hats were jaunty, beautiful and fun. It was a fine way to spend a rainy afternoon.

Jim Rector has met yet another challenge. He walked the Grafton Loop Trail, camping in the rain and enjoying the spectacular views. Jim's wife, Wilma, traveled to Lunenburg, Nova Scotia, to spend time with an old friend. The highlight of her trip was going to sea on the "Bluenose." The ocean was pretty rough as she sailed to Yarmouth on the "Cat." She didn't get seasick, but a number of others did.

Liz and Walt Stanczyk enjoyed the foliage on a lengthy trip to Elizabethtown, N.Y., for a visit with Aileen and Jerry Geiling.

The word is out that Collier is making her wonderful fish chowder on Fridays and Saturdays. I missed it last week but I won't next Friday.

Jeff Hershberger has been busy preparing the house he purchased on Mill Road for a new foundation. Other repairs are planned for the future. Ginny Williamson did not have to tramp around the woods hunting partridge this year. An ill-fated bird flew into her picture window. She and I dressed out the bird, and I must say that it turned out very well. Ginny enjoyed Sunday dinner with fresh partridge on the plate.

The orange cat that I imagined was coyote bait shows up at the birdfeeder every morning. So far she hasn't snagged a bird, but she eats all the bread that is put out for the jays.

The coyote continues to be seen up the hill around Joy Yarnell's area. There may be a litter of pups because the one we see is rather young looking.

Visitors to the Strattons on the weekend were Joanne and Leah Belleau from Dummer, N.H. Joanne brought her award-winning maple syrup. She and her husband Lucian's company, "Goods from the Woods," have won many awards for their syrup including an international award in 2002.

There is a flock of Lesser Scaups around the grass island. It's quite a large flock. The male bird has a glossy purple sheen on its head. The females are dark brown with a small white patch on its face. The bird has an interesting history concerning the evolution of the Greater Scaup and Lesser Scaup.

Flight birds are found in small lakes and ponds of fresh water. In the south large flocks are found on lakes and saltwater. They are not a favorite on the table as they are divers. Like mergansers, boil them with a rock, when done throw the bird away and eat the rock.

The "Bird of the Week" is the Lesser Scaup.

Thank you Karen at the Bull Moose, Polly Davis and Yvette Biledeau (Queen Mother in Errol) for arranging a fun afternoon. Let's do it again next year, but not in the rain.

Andover

by Melinda Averill

Attention all of you trick and treaters: Andover's Halloween

Walk is being held once again, for the third year in a row. Come on over and be prepared to be scared! Set aside Saturday evening, Oct. 27, starting at dusk behind Martin's Sales and Service (formerly Andover Automotive) on Main Street. You will definitely go away scared — if you get to go away at all!

Construction for the new Universal Waste Storage/Swap Area/ attendant's shack will begin soon at the Transfer Station. We would appreciate if citizens would hold off on bringing any more TVs or CPUs until the new storage is built. Thank you for everyone's patience during this time.

Happy belated birthday wishes to Virginia Owings on Sunday, Oct. 14.

Celebrating birthdays this week are Esther Pew (18) on Saturday, the 20th, and C.J. Chase on the 22nd.

What a large turnout for the special Town Meeting last week. It lasted until a little after 8 p.m. I believe that there were a little more than 100 voters. We never have that large a crowd at the meeting in March.

Have a lovely weekend.

Newry

by Sylvia Harrington

All dog owners: it is time once again to register your dog at the Town Office. The hours are 7 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday-Thursday. Please bring proof of rabies shot and spay/neuter information.

Gil Seeley is Newry's oldest resident. She is turning 100 years young and we are having a celebration for her. Please join us at the Newry Grange Hall on Sunday, Oct. 21, for a potluck luncheon from noon to 3 p.m.

The Bethel, Hanover and Newry Recycling Center is collecting woolen hats, mittens and scarves to give to youngsters before cold weather sets in. If you don't see the box, please ask an attendant where it is.

Saturday, Mark and I spent a few hours in Newry. We had lunch together and enjoyed the waning colors as we took a pleasant walk up the Branch Road. He was able to get some interesting fall photographs, which he especially enjoys doing.

Carol and Tim Small drove over from Orrington on Sunday. They left Monday and stayed the night with relatives in Pennsylvania. On Tuesday, they resumed their trip to spend some time with their daughter, Heather and John Austin and their daughters, Abigail and Emma, in Dallas, Ga. After a few weeks with the Austin family they plan to head to Tampa, Fla., where their daughter, Amy and Brian Plummer reside with their daughter, Amber and son Dalton. I enjoyed our brief time together and miss our winter visits now that they are almost Floridians.

Greenwood City

It's been an up and down weekend with all the action of our teams. Sox won Friday eve and then took a dive on Sunday morn thanks to several relievers. And now today the Pats put it to them fleabag riders A.K.A. Cowboys. Oh it was a wonderful sight!

Anita has been right on full screech this past week with helping the Legion Auxiliary; first it was the Harvest Supper and Dance for Tuesday and then the Bingos on Wednesday and Friday evenings. I understand that all went very well due to many hands pitching in and helping. And that is one of the nice parts of being a member. People pitching to make money for many worthwhile projects. And there is a never-ending list. And to all that made it all happen, "A big thank you."

Thursday we went to the Northland for lunch. As always we never fail to see friends there. Can't recall a time that we haven't seen friends. But it was the West Paris crew on Thursday. As Dorene Merrill was leaving, she just had to tell me that she ate all the fresh strawberry pie. And then had to laugh and say, "I got it." Well as it be and our dear sweet waitress had another made right up and I had a big ol' slab with a mountain of whipped cream. He who laughs last laughs best. And with fresh strawberry pie, it is a particularly good laugh. If they keep practicing at the Northland, they will outdo the Helen's in Machias. I'm going to make sure they do practice.

The Captain and I talked and he assured me that the Firemen's Association Supper was going to have a number of other activities. And don't forget to buy a few chances on the generator to be raffled off. Remember that those Nor'easters will be blowing in and we all know about losing power when we most want it. But Saturday eve is sure to be a delight and raise money for that needed truck. Plus I had an e-mail from the lower New Hampshire boy, and he and his Maine squeeze will be there too. Wicked good!

On Friday evening, Ray and Noreen went to have dinner with No. 2 grandson. Logan is quite the talker for two going on twenty-two. Logan is proud to say that Mommy is carrying his little sister in her belly. With three grandsons, maybe it is time to mix it up just a bit. Expect I will get an earful over that one.

On the 27th of October is the Chowder and Soup Supper at the Masonic Hall in Bryant Pond. It will be at 5 to 6:30 p.m. And for those tired hunters, it will be a good way to end the day. Get your tummy full of salmon, fish, clam, and corn chowders and then start on the soups. Beef, bean, and possibly a few last-minute additions. Then you can warm up just a bit with Patti's chili and get steaming with mine. Better have a supply of ice cream cones in the freezer for Sunday.

day. The one downer is that Wilda cannot make her fluffy biscuits. There will be gingerbread and whipped cream for dessert.

We have been seeing a number of deer around the yard. Fresh tracks in the area and I'm putting in a new driveway. Figured I would dig a big hole to put a big rock in rather than try to move it a distance. Then I got to figuring that maybe I could use it for a deer pen. Since I did the digging real deep, all I've seen is cat tracks. Guess maybe I ought to talk to the old poacher up in the Shadagee Neighborhood on how to entice those deer into the pen. I'm sure Irving could fill it full quicker than a shake of a white-tail.

Harold and I have been splitting our wood. Harold would fill his trailer and truck it home and I'd continue splitting. His is home now and we almost finished mine today. But the Pat's got in the way. Hopefully, wouldn't have to use any of it this year. Next year would be really good. I think I have just about enough for this year under cover now. Now if I could just figure out how to trick Anita into piling it all!

The Captain was telling me that at last update from the bank, there is going on $12,000 in the truck account. And checks continue to trickle in at a steady pace. Now these young men are working very hard to raise money for a piece of vital equipment and they are to be commended for their devotion to duty. In addition a number of them are actively engaged in furthering their fire science knowledge with long hours of training. Way to go guys!

It's time to say be Happy and Smile!

The Grange meeting for the 12th was canceled due to a sinus infection, but will be on Oct. 19, with a potluck supper at 6:30 p.m. and the meeting at 7:30. Right after the meeting there will be a "peel" party to get ready for the Harvest Supper on the 20th.

Millie Jackson, Nancy Kimball, Roger and Louise Twitchell, Dot Bartlett and Nancy Mercer attended the Bethel Senior Citizens meeting at Pleasant Valley Grange on the 19th in West Bethel.

Dawson and Judy Smith of Surry visited Arlene Harrington on Oct. 14.

Alder River Grange will have a Harvest Supper on Oct. 20 at 5 p.m. Adults will be $7 and under 13 will be $3.

Our trip into California brought back many memories and renewed contacts with several relatives and friends.

We entered California's northern border from Oregon, after a brief visit to Crater Lake National Park, where the mountains were covered by several inches of day-old snow. As usual, California was sunny and warm, and snow-covered Mt. Shasta loomed over our southward progress for many miles.

We spent our first night in the "Golden State" in Paradise, a small, but growing city in the foothills of the Sierra Nevada northeast of Sacramento, where my nephew, Garey, resides. Garey's house nestles among ponderosa pines in a beautiful setting, marred only by the close proximity of many other similarly nestled houses in the area.

Next afternoon found us entering Yosemite National Park, where we were lucky to find an open camping space in one of the "high country" campgrounds above 6,000 feet elevation, because Yosemite Valley sites were all occupied.

Next morning we awoke to a dusting of snow and found many of the high-country roads in the park closed due to ice and snow.

Yosemite Valley was spectacular, as usual, but we were shocked to see that Yosemite Falls, known for its awe-inspiring cascades, was dry! Not a drop of water seeped over the upper falls. We met no one who had seen this phenomenon before. It must be really dry in the high country of the park. We departed the south park entrance amid drizzle and spitting snow, glad to be safely out of the mountains before the real snows set in.

Later that day we spent a few hours in Fresno at the home of a friend who worked with me at Hickam AFB, Hawaii when I was stationed there in the early '70s.

After that, we cut through Tehachapi Pass between Bakersfield and Mojave, California; this pass is covered with literally hundreds of power-generating windmills, sited along ridge tops and down the windiest parts of the valley. Curious due to the complaints about the hum caused by the windmills on Mars Hill, Maine, we stopped the truck among the windmills closest to the road in Tehachapi to listen. Silence! No sound but the wind sighing through the desert. ('course, my hearing isn't what it used to be!).

Then, it was on to Pinion Hills, Calif., where my niece, Paulette, met us at the home of her daughter, Julie and husband Jamie Brooks, who had recently moved in with their three young children, Natalie, Wyatt and Joshua. They have a beautiful home on 2½ acres of scrub brush bordering national forest land at the edge of the desert near Wrightwood. Unfortunately, their street ended about a block short of their driveway! Heavy rains had washed out their road in two places the first day after they moved in. Jamie is still busy watering shrubbery, cleaning up and deciding where to plant the trees and rosebushes they brought from Rancho Cucamonga. Here was also enough open space that I let Snuffy run around loose for a few minutes, as he had been leashed or locked in the truck for most of the past three weeks.

From Pinion Hills we motored 36 miles southward to Rancho Cucamonga, where my niece, Vicki, has a beautiful home with her husband, Jim, in the foothills below Mt. Baldy. We enjoyed our visit here, especially the landscaping in their back yard, where Jim's model railroad hobby is revealed by his collection of model trains. He has train tracks around the pool, above the patio, around the grassed part of the back yard and through several varied landscapes of quarried rocks, shrubs and myriad other plants and model structures. Jim says he can have seven model trains running at once, all controlled by an electronic remote.

I took Snuffy walking around the neighborhood a couple times and found that nine out of ten homes there are protected by two or more large dogs, all of which dash around, jump against their fences and loudly ly bark warnings of our passing. Not a fun experience. On leaving here, we headed eastward, beginning the homeward leg of our trip.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

The River Valley Chamber of Commerce Androscoggin River Run was last Saturday. Although the participation was less than hoped for, the event was well organized. The starting point was at the parking lot for the Hanover Boat Ramp. Two classes of boats started down the river at about 11:30 a.m., canoes and kayaks. Rumford Fire Department and Med-Care Ambulance were on hand for safety and followed the group as it traveled down river.

Chris Howe served coffee and homemade cookies to the boaters and staff on hand.

Jim Ray from Austin, Texas, is now at Howard Pond and says he is feeling much better. He expects his cousin, Jody, to join him sometime this week for a few days. Jody is also from Texas.

Jim reported seeing two bears while hiking with Stanley Brown.

Barbara and Irv Robinson have returned to Hanover. Always active, they climbed Mt. Will last weekend.

Jim Keene and Barbara Noyes were at their Hanover home over the weekend and had as guests Jim's parents from Connecticut.

The Hanover Select Board will meet on Tuesday, Oct. 23, at the Hanover Town Office at 7 p.m.

On Oct. 2 the Gardner Roberts Memorial Library met for their annual organizational meeting. During elections Donna Worcester was elected president; Shirley Powell, vice president; Paulette Booth, treasurer, and Vickie Fimiani, secretary. Named as trustees were Maura Rodway, Joan Tucker, Clem Worcester, Lynn Watts and Chris Howe. The resignation of Deirdre O'Callaghan was accepted with regret. She announced plans to move to New York.

There was a discussion about paying bills because the library has very little money. Also discussed was scheduling for cleaning and moving books into the library. It was reported that the former site of the library building had been cleaned up.

Sympathy is extended to Roger Robin and his son, Michael, and their families upon the passing of Floris, a long-time, good neighbor along Howard Pond Road. She passed away in South Paris on Oct. 8 after a long illness.

James (Jim) S. Howe, age 61, and a resident of Howard Pond in Hanover, passed away Friday, Oct. 12, while at work. He was a music teacher at a private school. Private services are planned for the family at their Hanover property. We extend sympathy to his children and their families.

Services at the Baptist Church are Sunday School at 9:15 a.m., morning worship at 10:30 a.m., choir practice at 5 p.m., evening service at 6 p.m. Wednesday evening at 6:30 is prayer meeting. David Benoit from Glory Ministries will be at the church for Special Services on Oct. 20 and 21. Saturday at 5 p.m. will be a supper. Please bring a main dish or salad. Dessert will be furnished. The service will be at 6 p.m. and he will speak at services on Sunday.

On Sunday, the Fire Department held open house at the fire station. Over 100 people attended. Refreshments were served and there were pictures with Smoky the Bear, rides on the fire truck, tours of the station, and you could look over the trucks, equipment and memorabilia. Thank you to the fire department for this opportunity to see everything and for your hospitality.

of the Civil War met on Monday, Oct. 9, at the home of Alice Hoyt. Nine members were present. Helvi's party was discussed. Candy was brought in to give to the veterans home to pass out to their trick or treaters. Remember to bring in items to give for Christmas at our next meeting. Also things for the Christmas stockings for the servicemen. Twenty-two calls were reported and Althea Cary won the mystery package. Next meeting is Nov. 12 at Alice's.

Historical Society

The Historical Society has copies of Ruby Emery's "Hamlin's Gore" on consignment at Books N Things in both Bethel and Norway, so get copies there and also at Maine Line Products in Locke Mills. The society does not publish many books as costs are prohibitive for a small society like this, but they have done a few over the years and the public has been responsive. Your patronage is gratifying. The Historical Society museum is a historical and cultural center for our area. It is also a representative New England museum, and it concentrates on the decorative arts as well. They have very nice collections and everyone enjoys them. So attend a meeting soon; November be-

The leaves are turning, and are colorful but do lack reds. Some are falling and soon will cover the ground to wait for the rakers to do their job. When we were young it was such fun playing in them. The rustling sound it produced was pleasant to the ears as we jumped in and stirred them up. My gardener daughter says to use pine needles on the flowerbeds and not leaves to blanket the plants and bulbs for the winter.

On Oct. 20 at the West Paris Library on Main Street there will be a bag sale of books. For $1 you can fill a bag to the brim.

On Oct. 21 at the West Paris Universalist Church there will be a guest speaker, Jim Burke is organist. Do join us for the 9 a.m. service.

Mahoosuc Arts Council Presents Award-Winning Shenandoah Valley Songwriter Andrew McKnight with Opening Performance by Bethel Area Residents Jan Kubiak and Andrew's sister, Alyson McKnight

Tuesday, October 23 at 7pm at the Phoenix House & Well
Tickets: $8 at Door, Cash Bar available, No Food

It begins with a dramatic a cappella vocal, followed by a crisp and concise interlude of flatpicked guitar. Then the warm and supple tenor voice settles in to work, delivering literate and cinematic vignettes of rural Americans and their struggles in memorable melodies and compelling twists of phrase.

The between song banter is as much of the show as the music, with humorous anecdotes and a theatrical flair for storytelling weaving the music and words into a memorable performance. Such is a typical ANDREW McKNIGHT concert experience.

Since permanently leaving his corporate environmental engineering career in 1996, the award-winning folk and Americana singer/songwriter and Falling Mountain recording artist's musical journey has traced nearly half a million miles of blue highways and small towns nationwide, and earned him a wealth of critical acclaim and enthusiastic fan response for his four CDs and captivating performances.

That impressive discography includes his latest "Beyond Borders", one of five 2005 Americana Album of the Year finalists in the Independent Music Awards. Beyond Borders includes his song "Good Things Matter", Winner of the 2005 Great American Song Contest (Acoustic/Folk).

Wherever McKnight takes the stage, audiences are at once spellbound and relaxed by his entertaining stories delivered with just the right touches of down home humor, causing one concertgoer to label him "equal parts Robert Frost, William Least Heat-Moon and Jeff Foxworthy!" He has shared those attributes in a wide variety of performance settings, including the 1996 Atlanta Olympics, the Kennedy Center, Mountain Stage NewSong Festival, Chattanooga Riverbend Festival, Baltimore's Artscape Festival, and the nationally syndicated public and satellite radio shows "River City Folk" and "The Midnight Special".

A longtime advocate for preserving American landscapes and heritage, particularly at home in northwestern Virginia, several of McKnight's songs are rooted in Appalachian history and culture, including the haunting Civil War ballad "The Road to Appomattox" and "Company Town", which leads off the 2004 compilation CD Moving Mountains: Voices of Appalachia Rise Up Against Mountaintop Removal Coal Mining.

In addition to performing, recording and teaching workshops and guitar students, McKnight also is a contributing writer for Americana Rhythm magazine. He enjoys an artist endorsement with Elixir Strings. For more including videos, music and his online "A Road Warrior's Journal": www.andrewmcknight.net

Youth Football

Monmouth 14, Woodstock Wolfpack 6; Oct. 13—Two Woodstock touchdowns were called back because of penalties with the last one happening with just 30 seconds left in the game. Two other times the Wolfpack drove past the Mustang 20-yard line but couldn't cash in. Offensively halfbacks Derick and Dylan Poland and Nick Mills ran well behind solid blocking from the line, as did fullback Will Lyman who gashed Monmouth up the middle most of the afternoon. The defense was led by Ken Haas' strong play in the middle and Josh Bonney on the outside, who recorded over 10 tackles and a pass deflection. Down 6-0 at halftime, Nick Mills scored on a 15-yard scamper around the left end to tie the game, but later in the third quarter a Monmouth receiver sneaked past the Wolfpack secondary for a 25-yard touchdown pass, and a determined comeback effort by Woodstock fell short. The loss leaves the season record at 2 wins, 3 losses, and 1 tie. In scrimmage action the JV's upped their record to 5-0 with a 24-0 whitewash of the Mustang junior squad. Two scoring runs by Dylan Poland and a perfect strike from quarterback Danny Whitney to slotback Kyle Peterson rounded out the day and the defense held Monmouth to just 1 first down.

Woodstock Wolfpack 30, Madison 20; Oct. 11—The lead changed hands 3 times in a seesaw affair that wasn't decided until the final minute of the game. After a scoreless first quarter, Madison broke on top with a touchdown but missed the extra point to take a 6-0 lead, but on Madison's next possession they fumbled and Corey Howard scooped up the loose ball and ran. Woodstock went up 14-6 when Nick Mills ran the second half kickoff back 65 yards for a touchdown, but the conversion attempt failed. Madison struck back with two scores and one successful conversion to take a 20-14 lead late in the third quarter, but the Wolfpack answered with two scores of their own. A key third down pass from quarterback Kyle Peterson to tight end Corey Howard set Woodstock up at the Madison 25-yard line, and then halfback Nick Mills ran a counter play around the left side into the end zone to tie the game at 20. The Wolfpack then took the lead when he ran the same play to the same spot for the 2-point conversion, making the score 22-20 Woodstock. With the game still up for grabs with a minute left, Woodstock pulled away when Nick Mills scored on a 20-yard counter play to the right. Dylan Poland ran in the two-point conversion to put the Wolfpack up by 10.

Third and Fourth Grade: Farmington 25, Greenwood 0; Oct. 14—The Greenwood Spartans dominated the clock throughout the first half, but were unable to put the ball in the end zone and found themselves trailing 7-0 at halftime. During the second half, Farmington capitalized on a few missed tackles and an interception to put 18 more points on the board. A tough Farmington defense made things difficult for Spartans quarterback Jacob Bennett, but with some explosive running Hunter Williamson the offense was able to move the ball down the field. Kaleb Currier led the Spartans defense with four tackles. Reggie Westleigh, Calvin Glover, Josh Eliot and Owen Richmond also had multiple tackles. This was the final official game of the season.—coach John Eliot

Fifth and Sixth Grade: Mt. Blue Giants 26, Greenwood Spartans 0; Oct. 14—Big plays were all the difference in this one as Greenwood dropped their fifth straight. The Spartans defense played strong; Josh Lane and Christopher Wilday each had an interception and David Pilgrim had a strong second half, making several tackles. Mt. Blue could not move the ball save some brilliant runs for touchdowns by an unidentified back. The Spartans offense started out well but Mt. Blue made some key adjustments effectively shutting down Greenwood in the second half. Jared Vermette completed a pass to Sam Wheeler. Bronson Dean had some nice runs. Wheeler and Dylan Helms made some nice punts, Logan Bartlett played solid on both sides of the ball.—coach Andy Wheeler

BEFORE BUYING A HOME!

Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what would you like in your new home. Your list could include schools, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2-story family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.

An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize into, "must have", "should have" and "would be nice to have". By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

REAL ESTATE AND YOU

THE BEST TIME TO BUY IS NOW

Are you waiting for "just the right time" to get into the real estate market? Current signs are pointing to a window of opportunity right now.

Presently we have a larger inventory of homes for sale making it more of a balanced market. Buyers have more homes to choose from and a greater capacity to negotiate. Some sellers are even offering incentives like settlement costs, flexible move-in dates and amenities.

Combine this giving market with historically low interest rates. The average 30-year fixed rate mortgage rate remains near 40-year lows. With rising interest rates still being predicted, can you afford not to lock in now? If interest rates rise one percentage point it could boost currently available homes out of your financial reach. Real estate is still one of the best performing and consistent long-term investments. The many housing choices available and low interest rates make it a good time to be the buyer again!

For professional advice on all aspects of buying or selling real estate, contact Cindy Hiebert at Mahoosuc Realty, 207-824-2771

JAMES SIDNEY HOWE

James Sidney Howe, 61, of Howard Pond Road, Hanover, died Saturday, Oct. 13, 2007 at Exeter Hospital in Exeter, N.H.

He was born on Jan. 11, 1946, the son of W. Sidney Howe and Dorothy Frost Howe. Jim grew up on Stillwater Avenue in Old Town, and graduated in 1964 from Old Town High School.

He started playing the upright bass in sixth grade and had to sit on a stool to reach the strings. He fell in love with jazz music and played in many local jazz groups throughout high school. He went on to study music at the University of Maine in Orono where he gained recognition as a consummate musician and bass player while performing with the Bangor Symphony Orchestra.

After college, Jim moved his family to the Boston, Mass., area in 1972 to play with the Tony Bruno Orchestra. As a member of the orchestra, he played in and around the Boston area, and then at the Mount Washington Hotel in Bretton Woods, N.H., during the summer months for many years.

He taught band and music classes at Parkside Junior High School in Manchester, N.H., in the late 1970s and early 1980s, where he instilled an appreciation of jazz music in many young people.

Following a move to Portsmouth, N.H., in 1982, he flourished not only as a musician but as a professional photographer. The Jim Howe Photography Studio was a fixture on State Street for many years and was a hub of constant activity for his family, friends, and jazz aficionados. His artistic and creative talents were his gifts to his daughter, "Cheech," an avid photographer, and they spent many afternoons on "photo safaris."

After an illness in the spring of 2000, Jim closed his photography studio and moved to his beloved cabin in the woods of Hanover, where he spent time splitting wood and working on "the compound," with his trusted canine companions who were right by his side. His most cherished times were spent hunting and fishing with his sons, whom he nicknamed Trailblazer and Pathfinder.

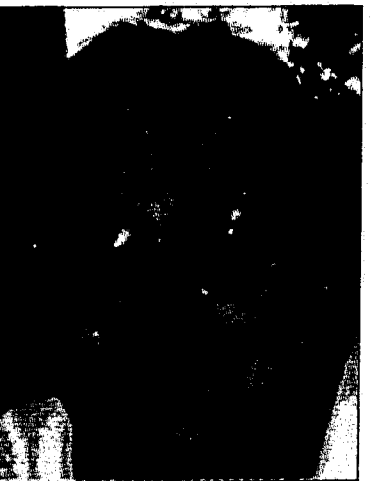

Jim is survived by his sister, Elizabeth "Scottie" Bell and her husband James Bell; his brother, Robert Howe and his wife Paula St. Peter; the mother of his children, Deirdre Wheelock; his daughter, Cheryl Howe Moore and her husband Matthew Moore; his son, Michael Howe and wife Tracy Shejen; his son, Geoffrey Howe and his wife Tammy Howe; his four grandchildren, Sean Day, and Micayla Howe, Geoffrey and Joshua Howe; his niece, Elizabeth Urtecho Aarts and her husband Erik Aarts; his niece, Dr. Jacqueline Urtecho; his nieces and nephews, Rhonda Stowell and Robert Stowell, Sean Bell and Shay Bell; his grandnieces and grandnephews, Nicole, Andrew, and Emily Aarts; and his best friend and companion, Gunner.

A celebration of Jim's life will be held on Thursday, Oct. 18 at 10 a.m. at Jim's cabin in the woods on Howard Pond Road in Hanover, for family and close friends. Following the ceremony there will be a reception at Liz and Eric Aarts home on Howard Pond Road. As dad requested, it will be "party time."

A concert will be held at a later date to celebrate his life as a musician.

In lieu of flowers, family members request that donations be made to the Tommy Gallant Scholarship Fund, which provides scholarships to UNH students who have the potential to reach a high level of achievement as performers. Memorial donations should be made out to the UNH Foundation and reference the Tommy Gallant Scholarship Fund in the memo section of the check, and mailed to Jennifer Higgins, UNH Foundation, Elliott Alumni Center, 9 Edgewood Road, Durham, NH 03824. Online condolences may be made at jspelkeyfuneralhome.com.

Card of Thanks

To everyone that sent cards and called, offered me transportation to treatments, brought food, flowers and friendship, sent their love, hugs, support and prayers. I truly thank you. I am so blessed to have you all in my heart and in my life
